

Scout

High yields for early/mid-winter in the desert
A high quality and versatile product for the hearts, box or process

Scout is a heavy, uniform, light-colored romaine for winter harvest in the desert. Through multiple large trials, it has shown superiority in yield versus the leading competition. Scout produces high yields with its uniform cupping, thick texture, and large size. Scout possesses superior traits that create a “win-win” for both growers and shippers.
